Question of granting travelling allo..... under Article 627 M.S.Regulations to an officer who is compelled to leave his station to consult a Specialist.

OPINION OF THE COUNCIL.

Travelling allowance cannot be granted in cases where a general Medical officer is available in the station but the officer who is in need of medical advice, requires consultation with a Specialist. In such a case the officer should take leave and proceed at his own expense to the station where the Specialist is.

Articles 627 - 630 of Mysore Service Regulations regulate the grant of permission to an officer compelled to leave his station to procure medical advice from the nearest station where a Medical Officer is located.

Enclosure to "Paper under disposal"

R.

2. On the application of Mr. K. Chandy for permission to proceed to Bangalore to consult the Government Oculist under Article 628 of Mysore Service Regulations, the Government ordered that he may take the casual leave required and that Government would like to take a little more time as regards his title to Travelling allowances.

3. The subject having been considered by the Council, it is of opinion following Article 1136 of the (British) Civil Service Regulations that travelling allowance cannot be granted in cases where a general Medical Officer is available in the station and that the officer who nevertheless desires to consult a specialist should take leave and proceed at his own expense to the station where the specialist is located. This may be approv
